Dedication

We, the 1944 Anvil staff, dedicate this yearbook with pride to the boys, who if they had not joined the armed forces of our country, would have been members of this year's graduating class. These boys have left the present senior class within the past two years to fight till our day of victory arrives. On graduation day the thoughts of every member of the Senior class will be with them all wherever they may be.

Finally we have become seniors! Already we have wrapped the pleasant memories of our three years at Harvey and started thinking about the future.

As sophomores, we successfully tackled the money proposition. The magazine subscription drive was held in the spring to finance the prom the following May. It was a wonderful prom! Even though it was raining and gas rationing had been established, we filled the gaily decorated room at the Mentor Yacht club. Although scared, we fully supported the dramatic activities. Many of us were represented in the three-act play, "Our Town."

What would football, basketball, and track have been without such men as Dick Chapman, George Presley, Bob Wilson, Jim McCormick, Squier Hanni, John Pierce, and Bob Gibbons? We were thrilled with our three championship trophies! Yes, we had some wonderful athletes in our midst.

Remember the school parties in the spring? We certainly showed our originality by winning the prize in the contest all three years. Remember the barn party the Scarlet Torch girls sponsored at the Log Cabin at the Fairgrounds? Fun, wasn't it? The Homecoming Dance was arranged by the Torch and Arrow clubs. The decoration committee worked for many hours with the purple and white streamers, which came from the center of the gym. Will we ever forget how pretty Shirley Hotchkiss looked when she was crowned queen? Will we ever forget Phyllis Bailey in the one-act play, "The Strangest Feeling"? During our three years at Harvey we won both the one-act play contests with "Little Darling" in our Sophomore year and "The Strangest Feeling" when we were Seniors.

Senior Week was greeted by all. It was our last show as leaders. We had witnessed the "year of years." The war had changed things a little, but we still had fun. We wrote letters to friends in the service during study halls and bought defense stamps through the Student Council.

Class Will

We, the Senior graduating class of Harvey High school in the year of our Lord, nineteen-hundred forty four, being in sound mind, as usual, and having much better judgment than usual do hereby declare this to be our Last Will and Testament, revoking all former wills made by us:

1. John Pierce's recognized ability to keep any class in convulsions of laughter is left to Clark Burwell.
2. To Lois Haskins, Jane Dickson bequeaths the book, "Cheerleading Made Easy," illustrating various cheers to practice at Scarlet Torch meetings.
3. Lucille Brainard leaves "the kids" in Mentor to Betty Sheve.
4. Margaret Anderson wills her methods of planning super-duper, prize-winning homeroom meetings to next year's president of room 35.
5. The heavenly bliss of Leah Benninghoff is left to Fay Fitzgerald to make her twice as happy in love.
6. Ruth Sall and Helen Beebe bequeath their memories of all the scrumptious and unscrumptious times they've had together to Yvonne Boudreaux and Shirley Purtell.
7. Squier Hanni's and Jim McCormick's AFTER-game tactics go to Doc Seymour and Leo Davis.
8. Johnny Taylor is left with Peter Brown's pipe, which once met a sad fate.
9. Bill Keener and Marshall Doolittle shall hereafter be the proud possessors of Herald Johnson's and Bob Wilson's he-man physiques.
10. Charles Carroll, Howard Concooby, and Bob Moodey will their Cleveland escapades to Don Kallay and Jim Colgrove, and anyone else who'll go with them.
11. An empty shoe polish box left by Bill Such is to be turned in for National Defense.
12. Elizabeth McLeod's sensible ideas are left to Rosemarie Franciotti, who would be better off if she used a few of them.
13. We leave Marilyn Harer's "a finger in every pie" life to Elaine Esch.
14. Mary Joughin gives sixteen and one-half wads of now-juiceless chewing gum to Bill Vasbinder, who is given the opportunity to identify the brands.
15. Shirley Hotchkiss and Marge Ferron pass on their summer camping memories to Ann Mally and Marcie Payne.
16. Gilbert Molnar is doing his duty by leaving a colorful assortment of bow-ties to Patty Swan.
17. Jerry Silvestro wills his book, "How To Win Friends and Influence Teachers," to anyone who wants to learn the technique.
18. Rita Wolff leaves a piano to Jean Ellwell, who might want to pick out a little boogie in her spare time.
19. Al Kallay just leaves.
20. Lois Lockwood, Sally Goldheimer, and Jean Vendi sing out the "Saturday night and I gotta work" blues to be heard by Shirley Fees, Alice Bihary, and Jean Munson.
21. Harold Heleen and Ed Griffin will just a little bit of that sharp ping-pong playing to Joanne Church and Delores Bartlett.
22. We will a bit of Beverly Ellison's nerve to Phyllis Klenk on condition that she gives some of her shyness in exchange.
23. The Arrow club boys bequeath their hurriedly-called "important" meetings to next year's club, in case they can't think of some better excuse to use in getting out of their homerooms.
24. George Murphy's typical Irishman's wit is left to Jim Mulqueeny, who also wears the green.
25. We leave Eugene Wirtanen.
26. Margie Spation leaves Josephine Nasca without a good female dancing partner.
27. To keep everything in the family, Toni Bertone wills her friendliness and Mr. Anthony attitude to her sister, Rosie.
28. Marge Hopkins' mania for slipping out of seventh period art class to join the gang in the Har-Binger room is left to Lois Tucker.
29. To Sheridan Winkleman, Bob Huff bequeaths his "man of the world" air.
30. Jeannette Christie won't leave her Coast Guards to Bonnie Washburn.
31. "Sadie" Chapman and George Presley leave their football shoes to be stepped in by Jack Hurley and Mervin Sweeny.
32. Barbara Clark bequeaths her carrot-top to Mary Pomeroy, who is about due for a change of scenery.

33. Margaret Cannon passes on her prominent seat in Student court and her worn-out robe to Peggy Snyder who, we hope, doesn't hand out too many demerits.
34. It's doubtful that Bill Chaffee will ever run out of gas, but Alister Beedie leaves him a few extra coupons just in case.
35. Don Stearns' friendliness is bequeathed to Jim Marple.
36. To Mary D'Abate and Aleda Newman, our girls from Vogue, Joyce Palmer and Marilyn Rogat, leave the book "Senior Styles" to supplement the well-worn volume "Junior Styles."
37. Bunny Hubbard receives a large portion of his brother Marshall's love for arguments and the book "The Art of Raising Rabbits," which has certainly proved its usefulness.
38. Jim Ballard's outlook on life is given to Lewis Miller.
39. To Gen Sennett with best wishes are left Helen McDonnell's familiar ad-libs that would make any dead-pan laugh.
40. We wish Antionette Chiappone would give a little bit of her modesty to Blanche Roberts.
41. To Jim Beymer, Ray Bevan bequeaths his freckles and "little boy" manner.
42. Marie Jacobson leaves her technique of preparing last-minute "A" book reports to Carol Shepard.
43. All the senior girls leave the book entitled "Easy (?) Money" and hope that the sophs have as much fun baby-tending evenings as we didn't have.
44. To Phyllis Ahlstrom is left Evelyn Miller's well-known wave of laughter, to be used in place of the ordinary "ripple".
45. Dorothy McClure bequeaths her will to achieve to Lavon Deidrick.
46. Frank Schumaker wills his collection of front-page editions bearing news of Russian victories over Germany to Richard Lucey.
47. Bob Gibbins leaves his "I'm so tired—let me sleep" expression to Don Bickle.
48. Houston Hendeley sorrowfully gives his French horn to his successor, Mike Ondercin.
49. Lorna Hughes and Patricia Goodrich leave good G.A.A. records to be carried on by Dorothy Rainery and Edith and Edna Bixler.
50. Phyllis Bailey consents to leave some of her popularity with fun-lovers to Lucille Cardina.

51. Joan Spetz gladly hands over her "4 o'clock Wednesday night blues" to next year's editor.
52. Katie Bates leaves her way with the stronger (?) sex to Esther Mally, who already has a pretty good start.
53. Don Somppi bequeaths his deathly ghost-like stare to Martin Levitt.
54. We all leave our memories of Bob Booth to anyone who wants them.
55. Bill Esch, the male with a weakness for many things, gives his dad the assurance that there'll be one less person to track down.
56. To George Beddingfield, Henry Hamilton wills his sense of humor that is a sure-way of attracting the girls.
57. Barbara Tucker leaves Mildred Luthanen the tip that obtaining a figure means cutting down to three pieces of cake at noon.
58. Ed Lucey and Teno Rizzo leave two dozen absence excuses, by coincidence each two dated the same day, to Mr. Whitcomb who hasn't figured it out yet.
59. John Pollock, the boy who is trying to get ahead, has left the Senior class.
60. Ernest Spear leaves the book "How to Make Women Swoon Over You" to Hank Zalar and hopes it will boost his morale.
61. Jim Tempesta and Dick Wyman bequeath a little of their extraordinary masculine intelligence to Ted Lehman and Bill Dubie.
62. To Jean Gibbs, Marilyn Smith leaves some of that vim, vigor, and vitality she gets after seven p. m.
63. Hazel Reeves is gifted with Jane Daughters' weakness for becoming excited easily.
64. Betty Greenwalt and Jane Tinker leave memories of their mid-year doings' to Carolyn Phelps and Betty Balla.
65. To Edith Ann Johnson are left the super-tablets taken by Irene Shula once a day to keep her from getting any taller.
66. Ed Lord leaves the tales of his Diamond experiences to anyone who wants to listen.
67. Ardele Abbott, Helen Cross, Irene Hanzak, and Sylvia Duffey leave their blonde tresses to Shirley Stark, Mary Giconia, Carmelita Dolce, and Carmella Nasca.

Class Prophecy

For weeks the signs had been plastered all over town. John Kutie's Newstand, Kaiser's Drugstore, and even Joe Porotosky's Shoe Repair Shop advertised the big event.

PAINESVILLE COMMUNITY PICNIC

EUCLID PARK BEACH

July 22, 1954

10 A. M. — Midnight

—Don Stearns, Pres. Better Business Board
Marilyn Harer, Private Secretary

Thousands upon thousands of people had congregated at the Nelson Bus Station. Ray Bevan was kept busy stamping tickets to Cleveland while Katie Bates rushed back and forth with bottles of coke to refresh him. By noon, however, the last bus was pulling out of the station just as Jayne Daughters, the local dancing teacher, came tearing around the corner. One of the sympathetic passengers, Dorothy McClure, whose canaries have won many warbling contests, shouted to bus driver Al Beedie, "Stop! Stop!" But Al was determined to be on time for his picnic date with Mary Santora, that sensational ice skater. The matter was soon forgotten by all except Shirley Robbins, a hair dresser, and Lillian Borso (now working at the Rayon) who heckled the driver for the remainder of the trip.

Before long the rattle of ivories could be heard towards the back of the bus. As the Reverend Squier Hanni slowly turned around, he perceived that the guilty participants were pool room manager Bill Esch; Mr. Frank Schumaker, Lake County Slot Machine king; Mr. George Ely; and his Beneficial Brewery associate, Tom Chiapponi, better known as the "Duke."

Suddenly there was a crash and the Reverend's attention was diverted once more to the front where the contents of a lunch basket were spread over the aisle. The devoted Mr. Murphy, a Lake Erie College professor, tripped over the feet of his sweet little wife, the former Joan Spetz, in an effort to retrieve the articles. His attempts, however, were hindered when his eleven little offspring decided to help "Daddy". Henry Spence, a garage mechanic who was not quite so domestic, looked on with scorn, for he and his wife, the former Ruth Lohr, had only ten children.

The aisle was finally cleared and a beautiful blonde, Ardele Abbot, sauntered down to say a few words to the bus driver. As State Senator Robert Huff stared with interest at the sight, he was properly restrained by a nudge in the ribs from his wife, the former Marjorie Hopkins. Miss Jeanette Christie, who had lost a great deal of her former pep, peered over her horn-rimmed spectacles to inquire how the newlyweds were enjoying married life. As Senator Huff opened his mouth, the Mrs. replied in the words of the noted philosopher, poet, historian, and foreign correspondent, Richard Wyman, "To marry is human, to love divine!" Her words were cut short as the bus screeched around the corner into the huge parking lot at Euclid Beach, which, incidentally, is now owned and operated by Jim McCormick.

Barbara Tucker, still using her old cafeteria line technique, was the first to pile off the bus followed by those two bosom friends, Evelyn Miller and Irene Shula, who are now managing the Shula and Miller Florist Shop. Right on their heels came Toni Bertone flashing a huge engagement ring. (Raider Coach Bill Such, you know.) Things were already going strong, for the early Painesvillites had wasted no time in getting started. The shrill screams of Librarian Lois Ebbert and Dietician Pat Goodrich could be heard as the "Thriller" edged over the last slope. As the cars lurched to a stop Kenny Brown, Bob Gibbins, Murray Goodrich, and John Gudis—the Diamond Alkali gang—jumped out knocking aside Mildred Brewer and Evelyn Solosi in their frantic efforts to reach the end of the mile long line. Mildred and Evelyn, incidentally, have a little candy shop downtown.

Coming out of the "Laugh in the Dark" Pete Concoby, an agent for the Kondas Insurance Company, could be seen hurriedly wiping off traces of dark red lipstick while pin-up girl Beverly Ellison gazed innocently in another direction.

In front of the "Bubble Bounce" two woosy couples were attempting to recover from the ill effects of their ride. John Pierce, astronomer, lay sprawled over one park bench with his head in Dorothy Crosswhite's lap, while on another bench Stewardess Barbara Clark and United Air Lines pilot, Jim Brown, vainly attempted to persuade each other that the ride hadn't affected them a bit! Just then Lorna Hughes, girl's athletic director in the new Charles Carroll High School, and Mary Joughin, English teacher, came wandering by with huge tufts of cotton candy. That was too much; the group decided to move on to other places where there was less food. A horrifying shriek stopped them in front of the "Fun House." Upon entering they discovered that it was only Nurse Elizabeth McLeod who had been caught over an air hole at an opportune moment.

A few minutes later there was quite a mix-up over at the "Dog-Ems" when the former Margaret Cannon, whose husband is that prominent lawyer, Mr. John Pollock, lost control of her car and ran into a car which Mr. Carl Chorman, local businessman, was driving. In trying to avoid the two, Betty Brant, who works at Kline's Dress Shop, nearly climbed up one of the walls. Jim Tempesta, ventriloquist, actually smashed head into the jam, at the same time muttering to Bookkeeper Virginia Klenk at his side something about "women drivers." In the end no one was really hurt, although Leah Benninghoff, or rather Mrs. Marshall Hubbard, cut her little finger on a sharp edge when getting out of her car. Over at his first aid station Dr. Hubbard tenderly bound up the wound and was rewarded by a kiss given unmindful of the stares which Nurse Jane Dickson sent in their direction. Miss Dickson was somewhat peeved that she had to turn down a date with George Wilson (who is in the dry cleaning business) because of her work. Matters were helped, however, when Gilbert Molnar, wearing the latest style "Gilly suit", stopped to talk for awhile. With him was Joe Montgomery, a card shark, who, for some time, has had his eye on Jean Vendi, employee of the Herald Johnson Rubber Baby Buggy Bumper Co. Inc.

They had not been there long before Dr. Louis Fedor, veterinarian, and Tom Curry, the local woman hater, came rushing up calling for Dr. Hubbard. There had been a terrible accident at "Over the Falls." It seemed that Radio expert Fred Holp had been busy telling his wife, the former Marie Jacobson, stories about what he used to do when he was a sailor in World War II. In his excitement he had stood up in the boat just as it went over the falls and the boat had sunk immediately, submerging not only the Holps, but also Marilyn Smith and playboy Jerry Silvestro, who were occupying the back seat. Mr. and Mrs. Holp reached the side of the canal safely, but Miss Smith became panicky and dragged in both Fireman George Lamos and Milkman Bill Fillipi before Dick Hemming, city garbage collector, finally managed to drag her out.

Meanwhile it was getting late and a group of girls in bathing suits started up to the picnic tables for supper. Mildred Benson, telephone operator, and Jacquelyn Amidon, who has made a fortune on her "Cleopatra Dog Kennels," came first, followed by Secretary Helen Cross and Dorothy Bailey, who works at Marty Rogat's millinery shop. It was not long before the rest of the tables were full and people began spreading blankets on the ground. Just about this time Mr. Ed Griffin, who is in the shoe polish business, came tearing along with a tray of potato chips, tripped over traveling salesman Bob Moodey's feet, and fell flat on the ground. Miss Marjorie Ferron, his secretary, and Beatrice Lyons, an office girl, rushed to help him up while Virginia Lacey's pet dog "Fido" gobbled up the chips.

Further down the lane Barber Henry Hamilton and his feminine assistant, Muryel Taylor, were fighting with a troublesome bottle of "Saplaky Pickles," while in the background Ulysses Grant could be heard giving Freddie Brown hints on how

Juniors

Richard Seymour, President
Aleda Newman, Secretary-Treasurer
Richard Hemming, Vice President

Hats off to the junior officers for the excellent job they have done in putting our class right up in the front lines. The Junior-Senior Prom was proof enough of our ambitious spirit. In other ways our class has shown its worth during the preceding school year. Right off the bat we chose capable leaders, the president in the person of Richard "Doc" Seymour; Vice President, Richard Hemming; and our Secretary-Treasurer, Aleda Newman.

Lois Tucker and Alice Bihary took honors in the Prince of Peace Declamation contest that was held in December. Maxine Cooper was also a winner in the city contest. Showing dramatic ability and furthering the cause of our class, Alice and Lois were in the Le Masque club play, "Clarence," by Booth Tarkington.

Our class also has outstanding sports figures. Yes, we are very proud of Leo Davis and "Doc" Seymour for their skill on the basketball floor. The Juniors also boast many football players that you will see as stars next year.

Marcia Payne, the chairman of the Stamp and Bond drive for the Junior class, has certainly done her part to see that we brought in the stuff that helps to make the Japs see black. We are also looking toward Marcia for an outstanding school paper next year, and toward Dolores Marcel to edit another Anvil.

If you remember someone knocking at your door and sticking his foot in it until his mission was completed, you can be sure it was a junior boy or girl doing his stuff so that this year's prom would be the best ever.

With such a record behind us we, the juniors, look forward to an outstanding year as Seniors.

To finance the prom next year, the sophomores have already earned some money. This money was cleared by the usual magazine campaign, which was staged in the earlier days of the first semester of school.

Other than being "salesmen," several members of the class have already shown their ability in various fields including athletics, scholarship, leadership, and dramatics. In the LeMasque Club play, "Clarence," several sophomores showed good acting ability. Among these were Betty Henry who had one of the leading roles, Bill Crabbs, Bob Carr, Phyllis Luse, and Matilda Spence.

Short, muscular, and ambitious Harold Carroll has showed his talent in basketball and is certainly a number-one player on the Reserve squad, as are John Gordon, Carter Hyde, Charles Cannon and Wayne Murch. These promising players may shortly graduate from the Reserves into the Red Raider squad.

As for scholastic ability, Edith Ann Johnson, Nancy Chadwick, and Elmer Eskridge certainly have an abundant supply. There are others in the sophomore class who also rank high, proving that "Education is the Safeguard of America."

Joe Santora is president of the sophomore class. Steve Ondercin serves as vice-president, while Oliver Smith and Terry Bates fill the position of secretary and treasurer respectively. These students work together in solving the various problems of the sophomores.

All in all, the sophomores have come out of their shells and have lent their hands in the making of a portion of what is known as "school history."

Richard Chapman left us shortly after the beginning of his term to answer the call to the colors.

The Assembly board elected Phyllis Kline to fill the vacancy left by Richard as president of the Assembly board and also the position as vice president of the Student association.

Joan Spetz succeeded to the post when James left school to attend Ohio State University and Robert Gibbons was appointed to complete the senior representation on the court.

In addition to legislative duties, the Student Council is sponsoring a new service project this year. The Study Hall Removal Committee of five members reviews removal cases and decides on their return to study hall. Ruth Sall was elected chairman of the committee.

Continuing the project it began last year, the Council has sold over $12,000 in bonds and stamps. As an added incentive, the home room with the highest sales each week has been awarded a red and white "V" banner.

Organized in the fall of 1938, the band is one of the most valuable assets of the high school. The members are to be praised for their fine performance throughout the year.

At each home football game the band formations and the baton twirling of the majorettes were well received by all the sport fans. A special pep band was present at most of the home basketball games to cheer the championship team.

During the summer and throughout the school year, the band played for the boys leaving each month for the armed forces. The band has a score of its former members serving in Uncle Sam's forces, including a WAVE. One boy, Henry Huffman, lost his life October 21, on the U. S. S. Murphy. Small groups of the band have also played for P.T.A., Kiwanis, and other church and community affairs.

The fall musical concert combined with the Girls' Glee club to present an unusual program of entertainment on the night of December 10, 1943. The majorettes also gave a colorful exhibition. Several solos and ensembles were rendered.

The Glee club under the direction of Mr. Applegate for the first time, sang for the Kiwanis club at Christmas time. They also participated in the Christmas assembly in connection with the band. There are fifty-five members of the glee club and they met in the Annex for the first time this year.

Another band concert was presented in the spring to a large audience.

Many thanks to the band members, majorettes, and the Glee club for the wonderful job they have done this year to make 1943-44 a successful year.

COACH HOWARD BAUGHMAN

HARVEY 13 — EUCLID SHORE 0

With six lettermen returning to form the nucleus of the 1943 football squad, Harvey downed a much heavier Euclid Shore outfit. Although Shore was the favored team, they were unable to score on the Raiders throughout the entire game. By repeatedly riding their smashing off-tackle plays, Harvey was able to cross Shore's goal line on two occasions. In a few instances, Shore made considerable yardage with their passing attack, which probably more than equalled Painesville's aerial offense. But on the ground the Bombers' line plunges were a little too much for the invaders to handle. From the opening gun to the end the Red Raiders used their tricky and very effective "T" formation. The strategy behind this type of offense is to catch the opposition on its heels, and the larger but slower Euclid Shore team were ideal victims for the Harvey eleven. Because of much extensive scrimaging preceding this first encounter, the Raiders appeared to have the trimness of a ball club in mid-season.

HARVEY 14 — FAIRPORT 2

Because of over-confidence the Bombers didn't show half the punch they possessed in their first battle of the season. Both teams did much fumbling and the running attacks of both teams were ragged. Dick Chapman played a steady game for the Raiders and also made several long sprints around end. Both of Painesville's touchdowns came as the result of passes. On one occasion in the last half of the game, Conrad Hyde, a substitute quarterback, proved his worth by intercepting an enemy pass and then running it back for a touchdown. The other touchdown pass was caught by end Bob Wilson, only this time the pass originated in the hands of a teammate. Bob also split the goal-posts after both touchdowns for two additional points. The Fairport Skippers scored their two points by taking advantage of a bad center pass by the Raiders. The ball sailed over the heads of the Raider backfield and also across their goal line. Fairport recovered it for two points.

HARVEY 7 — MENTOR 19

Playing their first game in Lake Shore League competition, Mentor High School displayed extraordinary power. With an exceptionally strong forward wall, Mentor was able to score twice on the Harvey Raiders in the first half of the game. The Mentor boys also connected on several long passes which were another factor in the upset of the Raider eleven. In the last few minutes of the contest, Harvey resorted to its surprise spread-formation. The Harvey Bombers had the large crowd on its feet when they completed no less than four successive forward passes from this puzzling offense. By use of this spread, Harvey marched across the goal line for their first touchdown, but the rally started too late. The final gun had sounded as Painesville once more was in scoring position. Much credit was given to the Mentor Cardinal squad for the showing they made in their Lake Shore League debut.

ASHTABULA 13 — HARVEY 13

An inspired Harvey football team returned to the form they displayed in the opening game of the season to tie a large and hard-hitting Ashtabula Panther eleven. Ashtabula led at the half, but the Bombers did not intend to go down to defeat before the hands of their rival. Coach Baughman attended Ashtabula High school, and for that reason his teams have always made it a point to try to come out on top in their games with the Panthers. The Red Raiders played heads-up ball throughout the game, with the much improved line opening up big holes in the opposition. The "T" formation again clicked with fullback Bob Ryan and halfback Dick Chapman each making several outstanding runs. Ryan was especially effective with his off-tackle plunges and Chapman with his wide end sweeps. A lack of experienced reserves hampered the Harvey Bombers during the game when several regulars were taken out temporarily because of minor injuries.

HARVEY 33 — WILLOUGHBY 0

Playing before a small crowd in disagreeable weather, the Painesville Raiders swamped an uninspired Willoughby Ranger team. The Red Raiders seemed to score at will and much of the game was played by Harvey's inexperienced reserves. As the game began it appeared as though the Rangers might put up quite a battle, but soon the Bombers started their march and kept on scoring consistently until the game ended. Again in this game Bob Ryan was a stand out. He ripped through the Ranger line for many long gains. Willoughby made some successful end runs but were unable to drive long enough to score. The Harvey squad was able to score even when almost the whole reserve team had entered the game. Both teams did much fumbling because of a wet field and cold weather.

HARVEY 7 — ASHTABULA HARBOR 13

Playing almost the complete game in the midst of rain, mud, and hail, the Harvey Bombers put up a terrific battle but came home on the short end of a 13 to 7 score. Many fans braved the weather to see the Raiders lead at the half way mark 7-0. But in the third and fourth quarters, the mighty Mariners from Harbor unleashed a powerful passing attack. The Harvey eleven matched the Mariners play for play on the ground, but in the passing department Ashtabula Harbor was tops. An outstanding game was played by Herald Johnson, the Harvey quarterback, who, by calling the right plays at crucial moments, gained many yards for his team. Bill Kleinshrot, a junior this year and playing his second year on the Varsity squad, did a fine job of side-stepping and plowing into the tough Mariner line.

HARVEY 26 — FAIRPORT 6

Making up for the poor exhibition they put on in their first game with Fairport, the Harvey Raiders beat Fairport in a drizzling rain 26 to 6. Harvey's passing attack was more effective than it was in any previous game this season. Bill Kleinshrot threw several ground-gaining passes and ends Bob Wilson and Jim McCormick did an excellent job on the receiving end. The Skippers were over-powered from the beginning to the last minute of play. Both teams fumbled constantly because of the slippery field. Harvey has beaten this traditional rival four times in the last two years, which by itself is a fine accomplishment.

HARVEY 13 — CONNEAUT 20

Traveling to Conneaut for their last game of the 1943 football season the Red Raiders took it on the chin in a hard fought game. To top things off, quarterback Conard Hyde broke an ankle early in the game. Hyde was substituting for Herald Johnson, who broke an ankle earlier in the season. When the game was nearing its end it seemed as if the Harvey eleven might have a chance, but time grew short and the game was soon over. The Raiders placed second in the western division of the Lake Shore League with four victories, three defeats, and one tie game.

Richard Chapman
HALFBACK

Dick was really a veteran in the Lake Shore League, having played three years of Varsity football for the Raiders. He was one of the outstanding backs in the league for the past three years, and his teammates honored him this year by naming him captain of the 1943 football squad.

Ed Salminen
CENTER

Ed played football with more enthusiasm than most members of this year's club. Because of the lack of competent substitutes, Ed was forced to play his center position without a let-up, and he showed great ability.

James McCormick
END

Switching to an end position after playing tackle all of the previous season, Jim proved that it is possible to learn a new position in one season's time. Jim was especially successful in snagging overcenter passes, mainly because of height.

William Such
TACKLE

Playing his first year of varsity football, Bill proved to be a valuable asset to the team. He was a good tackle because of his weight and height.

Robert Wilson
END

Bob earned his third Varsity "H" this season, and his services will be missed a great deal by next year's squad. He was a fine offensive as well as defensive end, making spectacular catches.

George Presley
GUARD

George made up in speed and slyness what he lacked in size. Although he was one of the lightest linemen in the circuit, he had little difficulty outsmarting opposing linemen to get more than his share of tackles.

Herald Johnson
QUARTERBACK

After being benched most of his junior year because of an injury, Herald came back this season to prove to be an invaluable member of the team. He had the uncanny ability to call the right play in crucial moments.

Ed Flynn
GUARD

Ed paired up with George Presley to give Harvey two of the lightest guards it has had in several years. Flynn was very consistent in his blocking and he also did a fine job of downing opposing backs.

Conard Hyde
QUARTERBACK

"Connie" proved his value to the team in the last part of the season when Herald Johnson, the regular quarterback, broke his ankle. Conrad stepped into this difficult position and played it like a veteran. Unfortunately, he too broke his ankle in the final game of the season with Conneaut.

Robert Ryan
FULLBACK

Bob added the much needed plunging power to this year's backfield. No matter how tired he was, Bob kept dishing it out, often running the ball four or five times in succession. He cracked the opposing lines almost at will in most of the games this year by continued plunging.

William Kleinshrot
HALFBACK

Bill was Dick Chapman's running mate for the past season. He is only a junior this year and much is expected of him in the 1944 season. Bill made a name for himself in the passing department by throwing several touchdown passes this year.

Larry Pasquarelli
TACKLE

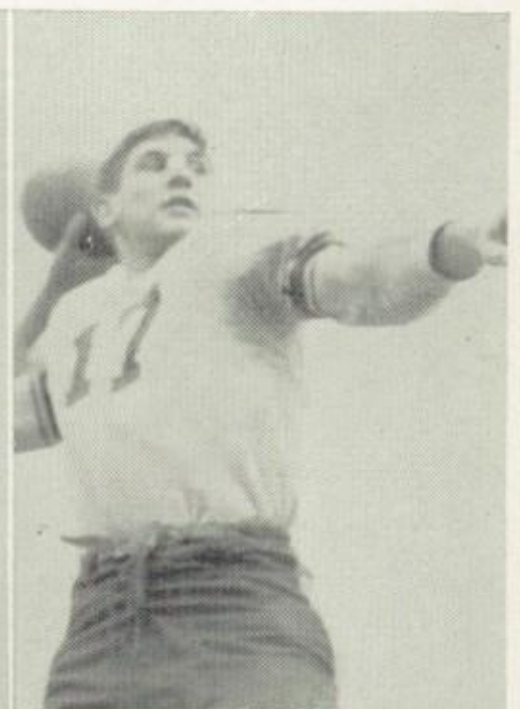

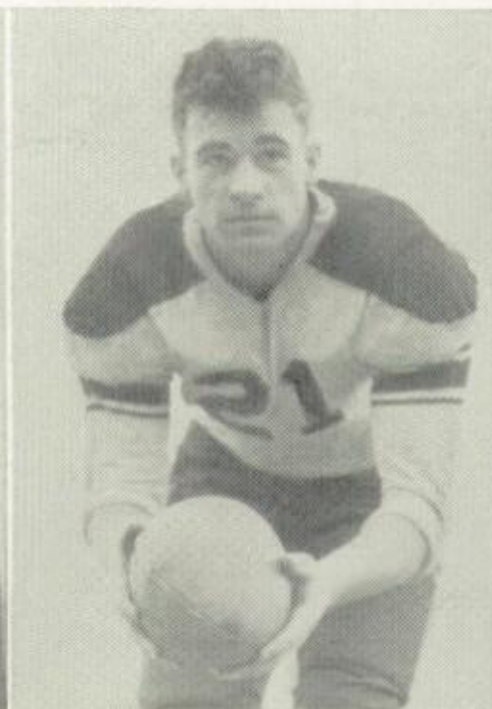

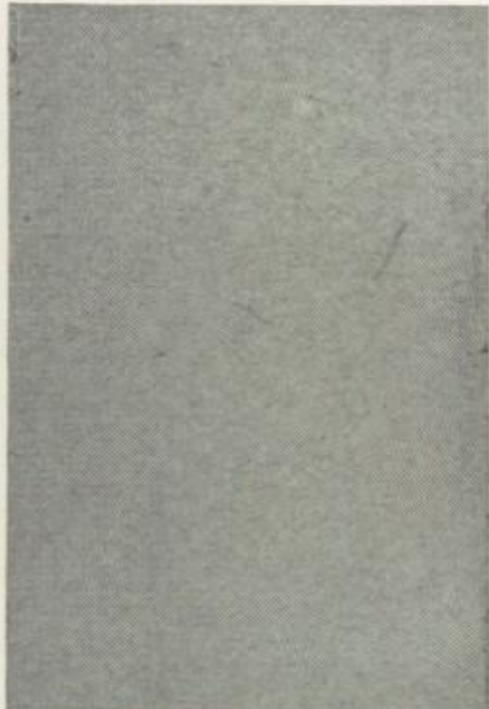

Larry has the distinction of being one of the few players to make a Varsity letter in his freshman year. He added weight to the small Raider line and was an exceptionally fine blocker.

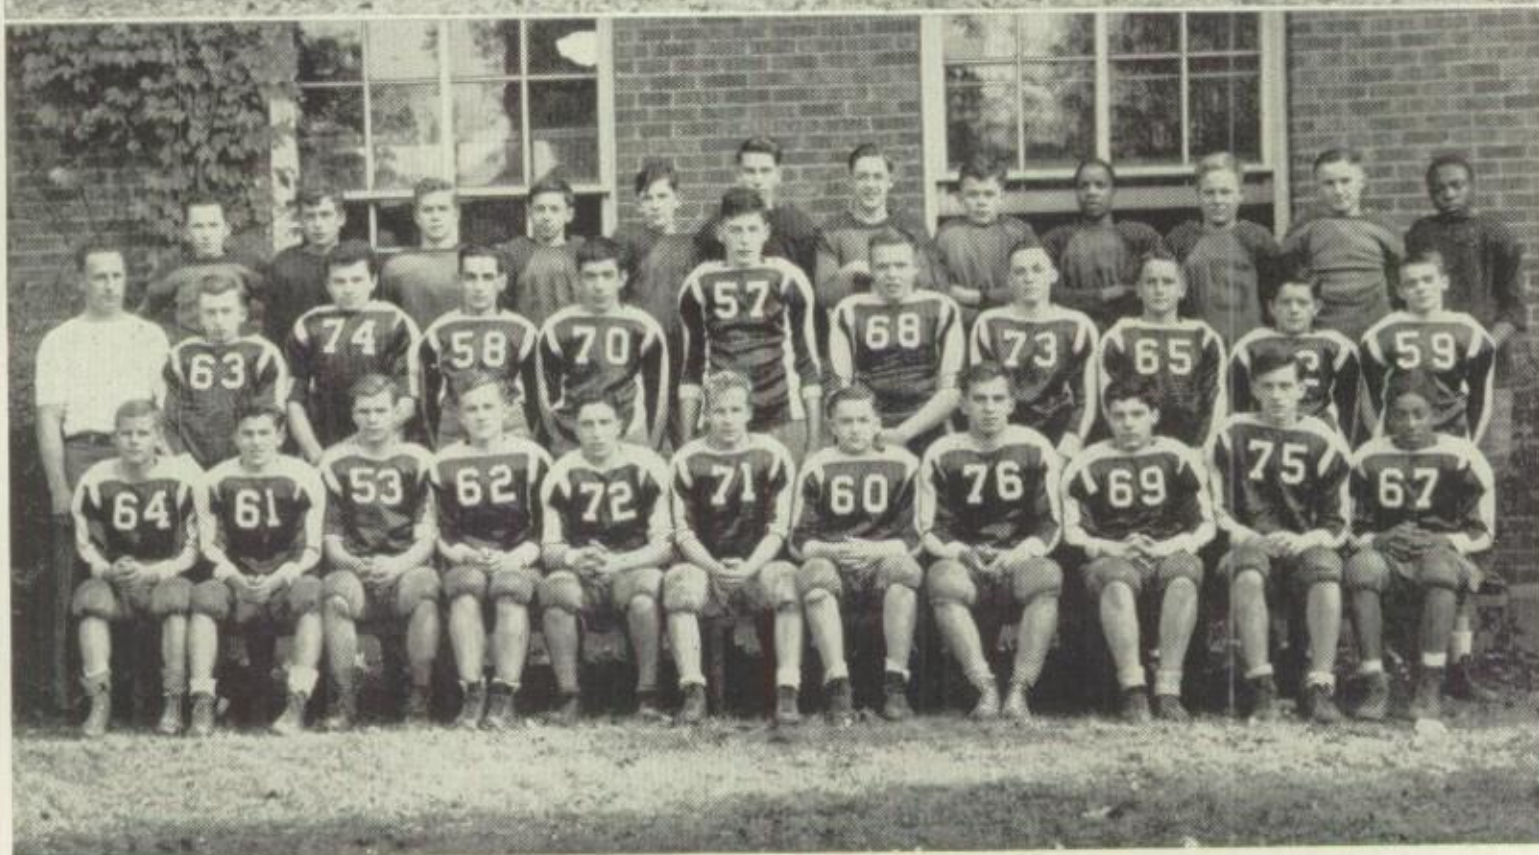

Murray Goodrich
TACKLE

Murray is another player who was packed with enthusiasm whenever he got near a football field. He started this season as a center but changed to tackle position. At this new position he gave the Raider forward wall some excellent blocking and tackling.

Jerry Silvestro
GUARD

Although he started a number of games, Jerry was one of the best utility men in the Lake Shore League this year. He played either guard position with much ability and his services were invaluable to the team.

"Rah, Rah, Harvey!" If you have passed through the halls of Harvey High during the past year, you have heard this familiar cry coming from the gymnasium as Miss Frances Woodworth trained her able students in the art of cheering. A drive to recruit the most lively and able girls of the school was carried on during the first weeks of school, and out of this large group twelve were chosen to lead the student body. Since the beginning of the season the girls have practiced during all their spare time, and now they are able to perform exceptionally well cart wheels, somersaults, and splits. Through this strenuous training the girls have developed a precision that few other cheerleaders can equal. With cheerleaders such as we have, it's hardly surprising that our "pep assemblies" have been so very successful this year.

Not only are the cheerleaders and their uniforms new to us this year, but also the yells, which were distributed by leaflets to all the students in Harvey. Flying through the air as the girls turn cart wheels are black gabardine skirts, topped by bright red sweaters with the Harvey High cheering letters on them. Red and black beanies sit on the backs of the girls' heads. There's no doubt in our minds that the hard work of our cheerleaders is heartily appreciated, and we are all definitely proud of them and their work.

"I crown you Homecoming Queen of 1943." With these words Dick Chapman, as captain of the football team, crowned Shirley Hotchkiss Homecoming Queen of 1943. Then Shirley and her six lovely attendants with their escorts led the grand promenade.

The music for the evening was provided by Dick Ruben and his orchestra. A striking purple and white color scheme was carried out from the false paper ceiling to the clever felt, book-shaped programs. Lining the walls were lifesize footballs, each bearing the name of one of the players.

Following the tradition of former years, the annual Homecoming Queen is chosen from a group of seven girls. This year the "lucky seven" were Helen Beebe, Phyllis Bittner, Margaret Cannon, Marjorie Ferron, Shirley Hotchkiss, Ruth Sall, and Marjorie Spation. To the football squad goes the privilege of choosing these girls, but the final outcome is left to the vote of the student body.

This year each dance was named after one of the members of the team. To three of these boys, Chapman, Presley, and Salminen, this night marked something even more important than the end of their last football season at Harvey. It was the eve of their departure into the service of the U.S. Navy.

1943-44 Basketball

HARVEY 52 — WICKLIFFE 28

Harvey's Red Raiders, defending champions of the Lake Shore League, made their bow in the 1943-44 season by thoroughly trouncing Wickliffe. Bob Gibbins led the attack with 14 points. The Harvey quintet out-passed, out-shot, and out-maneuvered their smaller opponents in every department.

HARVEY 39 — CONNEAUT 25

Displaying the same type of ballhandling and offensive tactics they used in their opener at Wickliffe, the Harvey Bombers moved to an easy win over Conneaut's Trojans. Bob Gibbins again led the assault with seven field goals for 14 points. Bob got out in front of the Trojan defense on fast-break plays and dropped in a number of lay-up shots.

HARVEY 57 — CLEVELAND CENTRAL 25

An all-colored quintet from Central High school was the third victim of the rampaging Raiders. Big scoring splurges in the first and third periods accounted for the lop-sided score. Squier Hanni was high point man for the evening. He netted 14 points on six field goals and two foul shots.

HARVEY 49 — ASHTABULA 24

Led by guard Jim McCormick and steadied by Leo Davis' fine ball-handling, the Harvey five raced to their fourth straight triumph. It proved to be Jim's turn to be hot as he put on a blistering bucket barrage that netted him 20 points, 11 of which were made in the final period.

HARVEY 41 — ELYRIA 31

The Raiders traveled to Elyria for this tilt, which was their first game following the Christmas vacation. The Elyria quintet threw a scare into the Raiders by scoring 14 points in the first quarter. It was the first time in the season that the Harvey five had trailed at the conclusion of any period. Chuck Carroll and Bob Gibbins each nettled 11 points.

HARVEY 44 — WICKLIFFE 19

Harvey High trounced the Wickliffe Blue Devils for the second straight time of the season by a score of 44-19. The Raiders hit a good percentage of their shots, but they showed very little of the smoothness that had characterized their play in previous games. This game was a rough and tumble affair from the beginning to the end and several players were forced to leave the game on fouls.

HARVEY 33 — WILLOUGHBY 15

By tossing in 18 points during the first quarter, the Harvey basketekers won their seventh straight game, and also their first league victory of the season. John Pierce gave the overflow crowd a dazzling display of accuracy in shooting long shots. In the first quarter alone he sank three shots from the middle of the floor.

HARVEY 49 — UNIVERSITY SCHOOL 27

Closing the books on a half-season of 1943-44 basketball, the Harvey cagers overwhelmed a good, but out-classed, team from University school. The prep-school boys were big and fast, but they couldn't keep up with the scoring pace set by Harvey. Jim McCormick once more led the Raider offense with 18 points.

HARVEY 33 — MENTOR 20

Harvey won its second league game by beating the Mentor Cardinals in a hard fought game in the large Mentor gymnasium. The Raiders led throughout the game but were forced to brush off a last quarter rally by the Cardinals. A main factor in Harvey's victory was their accuracy at the foul line, as they sank 13 out of 17 attempts.

HARVEY 43 — FAIRPORT 14

Holding the Fairport Skippers to three field goals in four quarters of play, the Harvey cagers rang up their third league triumph. Squier Hanni netted 12 points in this, his farewell appearance. Squier completed both his scholastic career and a brilliant basketball career at Harvey's mid-year graduation. Hanni was edged out of individual scoring, however, by Bob Gibbins, who scored 14 points on seven field goals.

HARVEY 39 — ASHTABULA HARBOR 17

The Big Red Raiders swept over Ashtabula Harbor's Mariners for their eleventh successive win. The Harbor boys apparently tried something new in the line of offensive tactics. Zalimeni, a Harbor guard, at one time simply held the ball for at least 60 seconds. Very few spectators could figure out how this "nothing offense" could win a game for the Mariners.

HARVEY 41 — CUYAHOGA FALLS 29

Leo Davis, the only junior on the starting five, was definitely "on" in this battle with a favored Cuyahoga Falls team. Leo scored 17 points in less than three quarters of play, being forced out on fouls in the last few minutes of third quarter. Bob Gibbins held six foot five McGee to two field goals while he was busy making 12 points for himself. McGee was a pre-game headache for the Raiders because of his reputation as a rebound player.

HARVEY 33 — WILLOUGHBY 14

Moving one step nearer to their second Lake Shore League Championship, the Red Raiders battled their way to a victory over a scrappy Union High school outfit. The final score of this game was almost identical with that of Harvey's win over the same club earlier in the season. Ed Griffin did a great job of filling Squier Hanni's former guard position. Besides doing excellent rebound work, Ed scored eight points.

HARVEY 32 — MENTOR 21

After trailing most of the second half, the Red Raiders burst into a sizzling rally in the last few minutes of play to top the Mentor Cardinals. This victory cinched first place for Harvey in the western half of the Lake Shore League. The rally was started by forward Leo Davis, whose cool-headedness in these last crucial moments probably saved the day for the Red and Black.

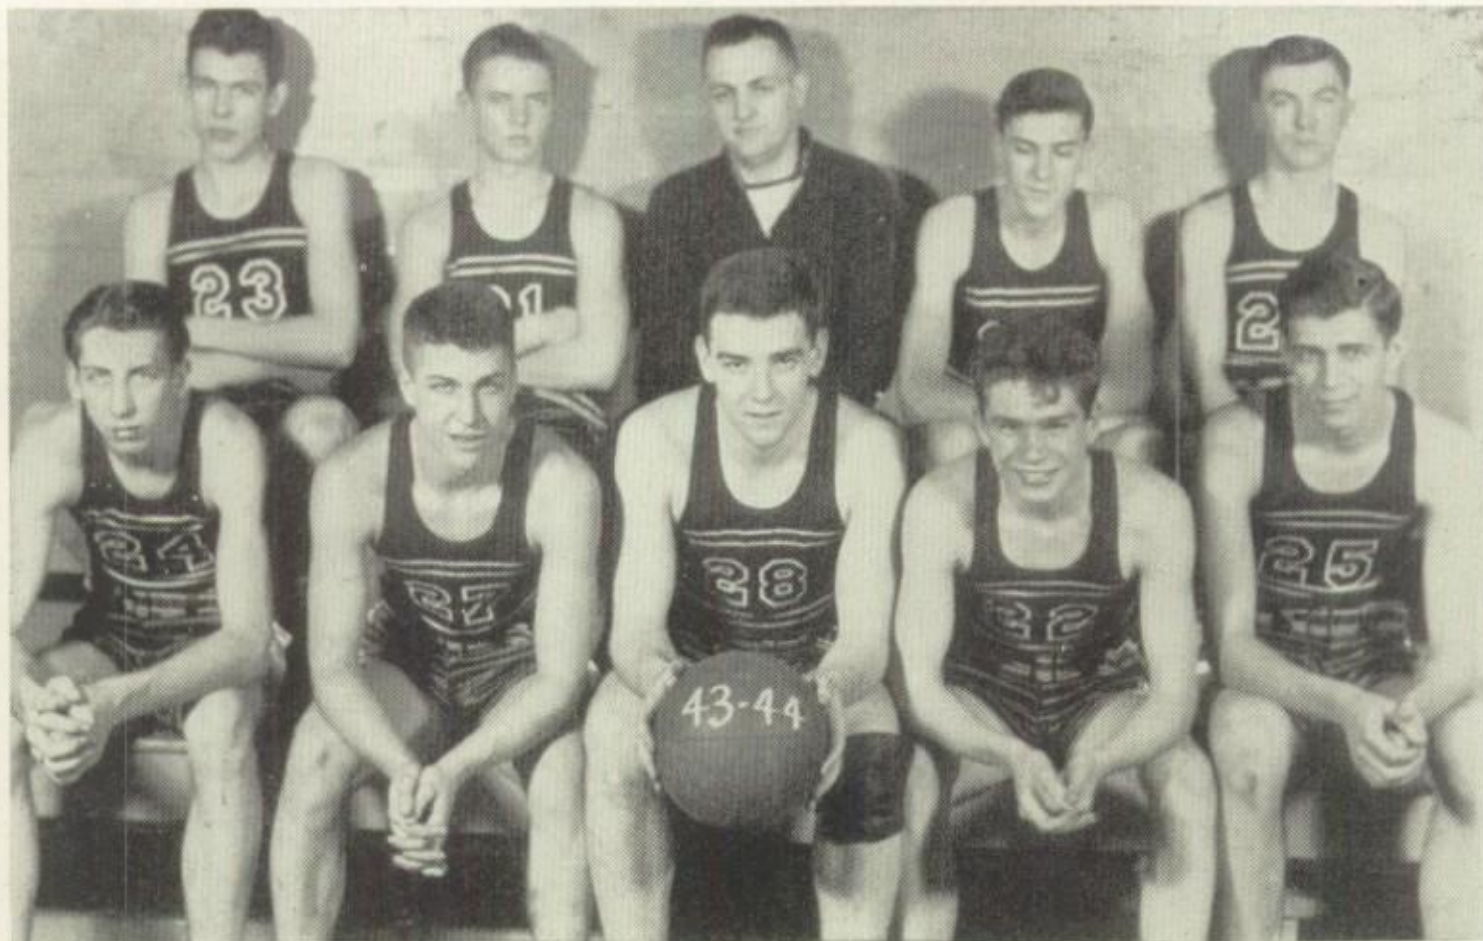

HARVEY 65 — FAIRPORT 25

Harvey closed out its 1943-44 cage schedule by trouncing Fairport High School by 40 points. Lanky Bob Gibbins rolled in a neat 25 points, which is a new individual scoring record for a Harvey High cager. Because of their great height advantage, the Raiders scored almost at will. This triumph gave the Raiders the right to represent the western half of the league in the playoff.

HARVEY 40 — GENEVA 38

Scoring twice in an overtime period the Harvey five beat a tough Geneva Eagle team to become LAKE SHORE LEAGUE CHAMPIONS for the second time in two years. The score in this contest never varied more than three or four points and it was anyone's ball game up to the last minute of play. For this reason the huge crowd present was on its feet during a good portion of the game. Coach Howard Baughman is to be congratulated for turning out two championship teams in his first two years of coaching basketball at Harvey High school. This is the first time a Harvey basketball team has gone through a season undefeated. It is also the first Raider team to win State recognition, being the only undefeated Class A team in Northeastern Ohio this year.

Lake Shore League Champs

RESERVE BASKETBALL

First row: Charles Cannon, John Gordon, Harold Carroll, Win Mueller, Jim Mulqueeny.
Second row: Charles Schupska, Carter Hyde, Coach Baughman, Lewis Miller, Wayne Murch.

Frank Solosi
CENTER

Towering into the sky is one of Harvey's tallest players. Frank has come through in many a tight spot and his pivot shots have netted him numerous baskets. He has displayed his efficiency in ball handling in tense periods where the Raiders have used the trick of freezing the ball.

Bob Gibbins
CENTER

Tall center for the Raiders, Bob has displayed his height to the advantage of the team. His lucky pivot shots make him a valuable offensive man as well as a defensive. Scrapping continually under the backboard, Bob got many rebounds.

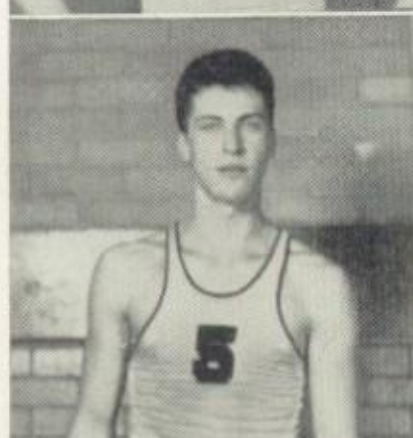

Conard Hyde
FORWARD

One of Harvey's exceptionally short players, compared with the others, has displayed his excellent ball handling which makes him a dependable player. Conard is fast and a very good defensive player, breaking up many of the enemy plays.

Leo Davis
GUARD

A fast steady guard who showed his talent in excellent ball-handling. Leo is especially efficient in his defensive tactics breaking up many of the enemy shots by intercepting passes. He has also showed his keen eye in shooting. Leo was high point man in several games. Leo is only a junior this year and much is expected of him next season.

Jim McCormick
GUARD

One of the big factors in the success of the Raiders' squad, was the top scorer in the Lake Shore League this year. His impressive rebound work has helped to account for the 12.1 points per game he averaged this season. His ability to keep a cool head in crucial moments has proved him an asset to the team. His teammates honored him by electing him captain of the 1943-44 season.

Squier Hanni
GUARD

By graduating in January, cost Harvey one of its best guards. Squier was a menace to the enemy teams snagging many of their shots off the backboard. His ability to play basketball and his position as captain of the team stands for itself. His offensive work has been displayed by his push-up shots which scored many of the Raiders' baskets.

Richard Seymour
FORWARD

A Raider not heard of much this season is only a junior but has plenty of that fighting spirit which composes one special quality of the team. Being a constant fighter, Doc will probably see plenty of action on the next year's varsity.

Ed Griffin
GUARD

Filled the shoes of Squier Hanni. Ed's marvelous ability to step in and play like a veteran explains his position as guard. Although it is only his first year for Harvey basketball his excellent offensive work makes him a valuable player on the team. Ed's fast passing has confused the enemy more than once.

John Pierce
FORWARD

A player with a real fighting spirit which makes up for the lack of height, John is an excellent dribbler and ball handler. Using these characteristics to an advantage, he is especially efficient on his defensive tactics, breaking up many of the opponents' rallies.

Bill Such

Although turning out late in the season, has proved his value to the team in his position as forward. He is especially efficient under the basket, recovering many rebounds. He sank numerous baskets under the backboard. His height plus his coolness has set him as one of the Raider's best.

78. Fritz Wolter and Dick Nelson will their "sharp" personalities to George Rolfe and Lynn Bartholomew.
79. The mid-years Jean Whitely, Alyce Werbeach, Marijane Ward, Betty Tobias, and Doris Martin leave the Mentor skating parties to Grace Mattice and Helen Pierce.

84. Tom Curry, Anthony Bonelli, Dave Pettit, and Louie Fedor will share their service life with any boy who wants to "get into the thick of it."
85. Lois Powell bequeaths a portion of her famous voice to Marjorie Brenner who, we hope, will make a success of it.
86. John Kutie and Carl Chorman leave to Jim Farinacci and Bob Sweet some of their wisecracks, which they sling thick and fast when you once get them started.
87. To Ed Flynn, Ed Kruter, and Jim Campbell is given the sense of humor of Don Littlefield, Bob Carrig, and Dale Kaiser.
88. Phyllis Martin leaves the book "How to Handle Miss Weigand" to Marilyn Mosier who could certainly use it.
89. Julia Drzik and Elaine Thayer leave their unusual personalities to Gertrude Cawley and Marilyn Holden.
90. Phyllis Kline's "do or die" life is bequeathed to Irene Gorman.
91. Carl Neipert is given Conrad Hyde's quietness. That'll help out poor Miss Mantle, who is just about on the verge of a nervous breakdown.
92. Jackie Amidon leaves her famous essay "Making Blushing an Art" to Joyce Farley, who may like to read it.
93. Richard Hemming dishes out some advice to Bob Carr when he tells him to copyright his "Lakewood Hop" for protection against courageous and daring males who like the spotlight.
94. Now we seniors leave you unsuspecting juniors and sophs in the clutches of Shakespeare and Milton and pass on into a cruel and heartless world to attempt to show people how much we learned under the expert teaching of Miss Wyman, Mr. Whitcomb, and the Bat-man comic books. Therefore, we do hereby declare this to be our Last Will and Testament.

Class Prophecy

to get along with the little woman. Suddenly a loud burst of singing attracted their attention. Mr. Ralph Myllykoski, manager of the Fritz Wolter Men's Shop, was leading the employees in a chorus of "Who Tossed the Tuxedo in Mrs. Highbrow's Soup," a popular song written by Mr. Ronald Pollo. A few tables over, Miss Wilma Brenner and the employees of the Jane Tinker Ladies' Apparel were attempting to drown them out. On the men's side the close harmony of Don Littlefield, Leonard Lockwood, Dick Perry and Anthony Bonelli could be heard most plainly while Joe Caranci's voice wandered from pitch to pitch throughout the song. However, the shrill voices of Antoinette Chiappone and Ruth Scaglione provided strong competition. Before the piece was finished Sylvia Duffy and Sally Goldheimer (floorwalkers from Greenwalts Five and Dime Store), as well as many other people, had hurriedly finished their supper and left for greener pastures.

The "Bug" was the scene of greatest activity. Photographer Helen McDonnell had quite a bit of trouble keeping that famous dress designer, Lois Lockwood, from flying out of the cars. This was especially so when waitress Dorothy Chom and housewives Doris Chapman and Elaine Bushey kept sliding against them every time the car gave a yank. Among those on the "Rocket Ship," who were taking it easy after their meal, could be found Lucille Brainard, twice divorced and married a third time; Betty Tobias, hostess at the Marjorie Ames Inn; and Georgina Neubrand, college professor who now has her A.B., PH.D., and L.S. M.F.T.

After their supper Margaret Anderson, a reporter for the Sompai Daily Chronicle and her co-worker, Irene Hanzak, headed over to get their fortunes told by that famous fortune teller, Madame Slazinsky. They soon realized, however, that Madame Slazinsky was none other than Julia Drzik, who had dyed her hair black at the Sall and Beebe Beauty Salon. Thoroughly disgusted they left immediately and wandered across the way into the "Penny Arcade." There the combined efforts of Ed Drobnick, Eugene Wirtanen, and Ed Salminen, (airplane factory employees) were being used to shift a pin ball machine around to better advantage. In the back, Postman Bob McKosky and Mr. Frank Booher, millionaire miser, had their eyes glued to penny peep shows which starred that famous actress, Shirley Hotchkiss, and feminine comedian, Marijane Ward. Receptionist, Doris Martin and dressmaker Mary Jane Ballard could be seen over at the side studying pictures of their future husbands. Next to them Lola Falcone, cashier, let out a yelp when the light flashed "sour" on the kiss-o-meter.

While all this was going on, that dare devil test pilot, Houston Hendley, was demonstrating to street cleaner George Kaso his great abilities on the "Flying Scooters." Waiting their turn to ride, Ray Hirvi, bank teller, and big-game hunter, Conrad Hyde, talked over the latest dirt about how Policeman Bob Wilson had arrested Charles Hnath for disturbing the peace when his auto horn had jammed in the middle of Main Street. At the other end of the park, Announcer Bob Holp was having a difficult time trying to persuade his wife, Mrs. Joyce Palmer Holp, to go on the "Flying Turns" with him. Every few minutes Mildred Benadum would make some remark to her boarder, Elaine Thayer, about the terrible accidents which could happen on such amusements, after which Mr. Ernest Spear, funeral director, would give a low laugh. Finally the poor announcer gave up in despair and the Mrs. led him away to the "Tunnel of Love" which was less dangerous and "much more fun." At the entrance they met Mr. James Ballard of Ballard's Music Shop and his girl, Phyllis Bailey, who were waiting to take their tenth ride of the day. Phyllis Martin was just coming out with her guy, but in her dreamy mood she failed to recognize her old classmates.

As the hours went by the crowd shifted over to the dance hall where a floorshow made up of Painesville talent was being presented. On the program were the popular dance team of Spation and Rizzo; singer Lois Powell, now with the Metropolitan Opera Co.; Emily Hosta, who is well known for her yodeling; and pianist Rita Wolff who was called back several times to play her "Rita Woogie" music. "Rita Woogie" music has taken the place of the old style "Boogie Woogie." Another outstanding feature of the evening was an Indian dance rendered by that famous mountain-climber, Ed Lord. As the floorshow was ending shrieks of excitement broke loose from Betty Matty, Marian Allen, Jean Whitely, Alyce Werbeach, and Lola Kemp who were sitting in the section reserved for the Jack Ballard Anti-Bunion Co. employees. The mad rush that followed was caused by the entrance of Harold (Sinatra) Heleen who is known as "The Face." As tailor, George Presley, and Eugene Robbins, taxi-cab driver, attempted to hold the girls back, theater manager Al Kallay sulked over in a corner muttering, "What has he got that I haven't got?" Paperhanger Jim Armstrong was about to reply when Carl Eggert, city engineer, motioned for everyone to be quiet. Police chief, Bob Carrig, then came forward to announce that the last bus for Painesville would positively be leaving within half an hour.

It was just about two hours later, however, that City Manager Dick Chapman saw the last bus off and turned to his car which by now was almost alone in the huge parking lot. At 4 a. m. a solitary figure dressed in overalls awoke on one of the park benches to discover himself alone. It was Farmer Ed Lucey who had fallen asleep while waiting for his farmhand, Don Enea, to show up. Slowly he walked over to his truck, climbed in, and drove out of the park thinking about the long day and all the friends he had met from his old class of '44 at Harvey High school.
